Crime Statistics In South Korea:

The Age, Period, and Cohort Effects on Crime Rates in the Republic of Korea Byunggu Kang, 2023 The age crime relationship has been a theoretical and empirical puzzle for criminologists for decades Although the age crime curve is often considered a stylized fact a large body of research suggests that the age crime relationship is dynamic under the influence of age period and cohort effects The impact of these effects can vary across different social contexts as the consistency or variability in socio economic and cultural factors experienced by consecutive generations or populations differs in each context Thus the extent to which age period and cohort effects contribute to the age crime relationship in various social contexts is a question that requires further investigation In particular the age crime relationship in Korea which largely differs from the archetypical age crime curve and has varied considerably within the country over the last four decades offers a rich empirical context for better understanding age period and cohort effects Using age and gender specific arrest data for the years 1976 2019 this dissertation contextualizes how age period and cohort effects contribute to the age crime relationship in Korea Study 1 revisits the age and sex compositional effect on homicide rates in Korea a country that has undergone significant demographic shifts and rapid socio economic changes in the past 70 years Study 2 examines whether cohorts characterized by high birth rates or a higher sex ratio contribute to the increase in the peak age of offending during the last four decades Study 3 compares the stability of cohort effects among three consecutive birth cohorts with large cohort sizes which share similar demographic characteristics but have distinct sociohistorical experiences amid Korea's rapid social changes These three empirical studies contribute to our understanding of the dynamic nature of the age crime relationship shaped by population dynamics and social context offering empirical and theoretical insights into the interplay among age period and cohort effects

Crime Trends in Asia and the Pacific Satyanshu Kumar Mukherjee, 1994 Modernizing Crime Statistics National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Committee on Law and Justice, Committee on National Statistics, Panel on Modernizing the Nation's Crime Statistics, 2016-06-30 To derive statistics about crime to estimate its levels and trends assess its costs to and impacts on society and inform law enforcement approaches to prevent it a conceptual framework for defining and thinking about crime is virtually a prerequisite Developing and maintaining such a framework is no easy task because the mechanics of crime are ever evolving and shifting tied to shifts and development in technology society and legislation Interest in understanding crime surged in the 1920s which proved to be a pivotal decade for the collection of nationwide crime statistics Now established as a permanent agency the Census Bureau commissioned the drafting of a manual for preparing crime statistics intended for use by the police corrections departments and courts alike The new manual sought to solve a perennial problem by suggesting a standard taxonomy of crime Shortly after the Census Bureau issued its manual the International Association of Chiefs of Police in convention adopted a resolution to create a Committee on Uniform Crime Records to begin the process of describing what a national system of data on crimes known to the police might look like The key distinction between the rigorous classification proposed in this report and the classifications that have come before in U S crime statistics is that it is intended to partition the entirety of behaviors that could be considered criminal offenses into mutually exclusive categories Modernizing Crime Statistics Report 1 Defining and Classifying Crime assesses and makes recommendations for the development of a modern set of crime measures in the United States and the best means for obtaining them This first report develops a new classification of crime by weighing various perspectives on how crime should be defined and organized with the needs and demands of the full array of crime data users and stakeholders International Crime Rates Carol B.

Kalish,1988 Historical Statistics of Korea Myung Soo Cha,Nak Nyeon Kim,Ki-Joo Park,Yitaek Park,2022-07-05 This book presents economic statistics of Korea in the past three centuries focusing on the century following 1910 The data typically time series rather than cross sectional are given in 22 chapters which refer to population wages prices education health national income and wealth and technology among others Rather than simply putting together available data the contributors to this statistical compendium made adjustments to ensure intertemporal consistency when required An overview draws attention to the discontinuous shifts occurring over time in the quantity and quality of the statistical information available which was associated with the regime changes Korea underwent including the imposition of Japanese rule in 1910 and de colonization and split into two Koreas three and half decades later Individual chapters begin with a brief introduction which helps users better understand and use the data Data sources and references in the Japanese and Korean language are fully provided following the standard Hepburn and McCune Reischauer Romanization with English translation to assist users to identify materials and explore more deeply the wealth of statistical data waiting to be analyzed The Effect of Urbanization on Crime Rates in Korea (1966-1975) Bo-Hwan Kim,1980 Global Report on Crime and Justice Graeme R. Newman,1999 Research and data gathered by the UN Centre for International Crime Prevention The work combines a wealth of information about crime and justice from UN member states and beyond and presents emerging crime trends and operations of criminal justice systems on a comparative basis Report to the Nation on Crime and Justice United States. School Violence in South Korea Seunghee Han,2021-06-22 This book examines school violence in South Korea from an international comparative perspective It analyses nationally representative samples and provides extensive literature reviews based on academic journals various social and educational magazines and major media articles on school violence in South Korea This book includes major data sets for the analysis such as Trends in International Mathematics and Science Study and Nation Youth Policy Institute These data show frequency patterns and associated factors of school violence in South Korea and comparison of those in Japan and the United States Criminal Justice Statistics in Korea ,2010 Determinants of Crime Rates in Latin America and the World Pablo Fajnzylber,Daniel Lederman,Norman Loayza,1998-01-01 A growing concern in most regions of the world is the heightened incidence of criminal and violent behavior especially in the Latin American and Caribbean Region This study uses a new data set of crime rates for a large sample of countries to analyze the determinants of national homicide and robbery rates The authors describe a simple model of incentives to commit crimes by estimating several econometric models and utilizing empirical models to draw their conclusions The Effects of Urbanization on Crime Rates in Korea Bo-Hwan Kim,1980 Crime Statistics Canada. Dominion Bureau of Statistics,1961 The Work of the Bureau of Crime Statistics and Research New South Wales. Bureau of Crime Statistics and Research,1989 Crime and Justice, Volume 43 Michael Tonry,2014-12-15 Violent and property crime rates in all Western countries have been falling since the early and mid 1990s after rising in the 1970s and 1980s Few people have noticed the common patterns and fewer have attempted to understand or explain them Yet the implications are essential for thinking about crime control and criminal justice policy more broadly Crime rates in Canada and the United States for example have moved in parallel for 40 years but Canada has neither increased its imprisonment rate nor adopted harsher criminal justice policies The implication is that something other than mass imprisonment zero tolerance policing and three strikes laws explains why crime rates in our time are falling The essays in this 43rd volume of Crime and Justice explore the possibilities cross nationally They document the common rises and falls in crime and look at possible explanations including changes in sensitivity to violence generally and intimate violence in particular macro level changes in self control and structural and economic developments in modern states The contributors to this volume include Marcelo Aebi Andromachi Tseloni Eric Baumer Manuel Eisner Graham Farrell Janne Kivivuori Tapio Lappi Seppä Suzy McElrath Richard Rosenfeld Rossella Selmini Nick Tilley and Kevin T Wolff Bullying and Violence in South Korea Trent Bax,2017-02-10 This book provides a fully contextualised multidisciplinary examination of bullying and violence in South Korean society Bullying and violence has been a pressing societal issue since 2011 having been labelled as a social evil to be eradicated by the government However the issue has been incorrectly confined to schools when in fact it is widespread in society and in professional settings as Bax argues in this original new text Through twenty in depth case studies and original case material from a Juvenile Detention Centre Bax examines the historical cultural political and social contexts of bullying and violence to better understand the nature of these crimes the perpetrators and how they come together in the broader cultural landscape within which the individual the family the school and the community are embedded Uniform Crime Reports for the United States ,1959 Transnational and Comparative Criminology James Sheptycki, Ali Wardak,2012-09-10 This book examines the issues of crime and its control in the twenty first century an era of human history where people live in an increasingly interconnected and interdependent world providing invaluable and first hand readings for undergraduate and postgraduate students 21st-Century Statecraft Nayef Al-Rodhan,2022-07-28 This book proposes an innovative and comprehensive framework for conducting statecraft in the 21st century Called neo statecraft this framework is based on the reconciliation of power interests and justice The author proposes four substrates of neo statecraft 1 a new structure he calls meta geopolitics which includes seven inter related dimensions of state power and identifies a Geostrategic Tripwire Pivotal Corridor TPC 2 a sustainable national security paradigm that stresses the centrality of justice symbiotic realism and transcultural synergy 3 a new concept called just power which states that power must be smart as well as just and that global justice is above all a national interest of all states and 4 a new concept called reconciliation statecraft of the eight global interests Dr Nayef R F Al Rodhan is Senior Scholar in Geostrategy and Director of the Programme on the Geopolitical Implications of Globalisation and Transnational Security at the Geneva Centre for Security Policy Geneva Switzerland
